

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An auditory ossicles prosthesis has a head plate adapted to be placed on an ear drum, a base part formed so as to receive a rising bracket or to be placed in an oval window of a rising bracket foot plate, and an element for movably connecting said head part with said base part, the element for movably connecting the head part with the base part being formed as a flexible wire.